

Breaking New Ground: Building the Future at our Mega Depot

Eng Kong is proud and excited to mark yet another major milestone in our journey with the groundbreaking ceremony for our new Mega Depot.

This event holds special significance as it signals the beginning of an exciting new chapter for all of us. It is a chapter shaped by growth, innovation, and the continued trust of our customers. We are also deeply grateful to HPC Builders for organising the ceremony and working alongside us to create a meaningful occasion that celebrates this new beginning.

While construction has only just begun, the Mega Depot represents our aspirations for the future. We have designed it to strengthen the way we serve, broaden what we can offer, and allow us to respond to the industry's needs with greater efficiency. This is our goal, and we are committed to making it a reality.

At the same time, this moment invites us to pause and remember where we started. For the past 50 years, our current depots have been more than just a workplace. It has been a home. It has seen our challenges, our progress, and the many milestones we have reached together. The friendships formed and memories made there will stay with us as we move into this next chapter.

We are deeply thankful to everyone who has been part of this journey — our dedicated teams, our supportive partners, and most importantly, our customers. Your continued support has made this milestone possible.

We are filled with excitement for what the future holds and we look forward to welcoming you to our Mega Depot in the near future. Here is to building the future together!
